Below is the job description of the duties Mr. Wei-Tung Tang will be performing during this internship:

Become a Superhero-In-Training

The Business Applications (BizApps) team develops web-based applications used by our employees and partners to deliver, maintain and support our products. We are successful when our co-workers in sales, finance, support, operations, product development, quality assurance and engineering are able to use our services as part of their day-to-day work to build and grow our company.

As an intern, you will be expected to function as a full member of the team in the software development process. You will work with other software and quality assurance engineers on the team to design, develop and test features and functionality that will be used throughout the company. You will also work with other groups and teams to understand requirements, create integrated solutions and deliver completed features to our users.

Your Current Super-Skills

- Experience developing web front-end applications using HTML, CSS, Javascript (Angular, Bootstrap, React, D3, etc.)
- Some experience working with SQL and/or No-SQL databases
- Experience developing and working with RESTful web services
- Good oral and written communication skills
- Fast learner and a good multi-tasker
